

NAVIGATING DIGITAL DANGERS

Unit Study

Learn How You can take back the reins and sow seeds of resilience in the next generation.

Our Mission:

We aim to create a future where teens and tweens possess the requisite skills to successfully navigate the complexities of the digital world to protect their minds, bodies, and reputations from predators of all sorts who would use them for purposes that are often in direct opposition to the core values we are trying to instill in them.

Why We Need to Teach This:

The strength, scope, power, and sway of the digital world demands skills for successful navigation. These skills are currently not being taught on a large scale.
